Bassingthwaighte comes Alive at Australia Day Live 2009

Pop sensation, actress and TV personality Natalie Bassingthwaighte will rock the lawns of Parliament House at the 2009 Australia Day Live concert.

With her new solo album 1000 Stars soon to be released, Natalie has already dominated the music charts with her hot single "Alive", and will be performing her brand new single "Someday soon" this Australia Day.

"Australia Day Live is a great tradition for all Australians. This year, we are really excited to have a diverse line up of some of Australia's best musical talent, said Warren Pearson, Chief Executive Officer of the National Australia Day Council.

"Natalie is a great icon of the Australian music and television industry and it is great to have her back in Canberra and on the line up again for the 2009 concert," said Pearson.

Throughout the last year Natalie has propelled herself into stardom, with her booming music career as lead singer of the Australian electro-rock band Rouge Traders and has recently broken out as a solo artist with her first single released in November 2008.

Proving there is nothing that she can't do, Natalie also received Logie nominations for her acting in the Australian hit TV show Neighbours, and recent fame hosting the popular So You Think You Can Dance.

Don't miss this pop sensation rock out at Australia Day Live on January 25 on the lawns of Parliament House. The celebrations will kick off at 4:00pm and the concert will commence at 6:30pm. Make sure you head down early to see Natalie perform live.
